

The role of Civil society organisations in the monitoring and implementation just transition and empowerment of communities in achievement of the SDGs

Janne Rajala

Senior Cloud Architect, Atea Hybrid Platform

Sustainability Ambassador, Green Habito president in Finland

Civil society organisations (CSOs) are the backbone of our efforts to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). They are crucial in monitoring and implementing just transitions, ensuring that marginalised communities' voices are heard and their needs are met. By fostering participation and inclusivity, CSOs empower communities to shape their futures actively.

GREEN HABITO

At Green Habito, we are committed to promoting sustainable lifestyles and environmental protection. Our activities include:

- Annual Meetings and Conferences bring civil society representatives, public and private sector stakeholders, and international organisations to discuss and develop initiatives that promote sustainable development.
- Working Groups and Development Initiatives: We facilitate working groups that focus on various aspects of sustainability, such as circular economy, environmental protection, and social transformation.
- Awareness Campaigns: We raise awareness about the importance of sustainable lifestyles and the role of civil society in achieving the SDGs.

CONFERENCE

9

PROJECTS

8

REPORTS

10

TRAININGS

33

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, civil society organisations' role in monitoring and implementing just transitions is vital. By empowering communities and fostering participation, we can ensure that the SDGs are achieved and no one is left behind. Let us continue to work together to create a greener, more sustainable future for all.

THANK YOU

Janne Rajala

president@greenhabito.eu

www.greenhabito.eu